Automation in Cutting - POLAR PACE Days 2014

POLAR CuttingSystem PACE

POLAR Three-side trimmer BC 330

From 12 to 16 May 2014 POLAR will hold its PACE Days 2014 at the company headquarters in Hofheim. The event focuses on automation options in cutting. POLAR will demonstrate how customers can optimize their cutting processes.

The highlight at the PACE Days is at the same time a real world novelty: POLAR EasyLoad 7S. This product bridges the gap between manual and automatic jogging up to size 121 x 162.

POLAR's PACE CuttingSystems represent automated cutting. PACE is an abbreviation of 'POLAR automation for cutting efficiency'. With the Autoturn turning gripper and the Autotrim high-speed cutter as the centerpieces up to 5 cuts can be performed automatically. In the meantime, the operator can prepare the next cutting ream. This helps to enhance productivity or save personnel.

With its BC 330 three-side trimmer POLAR offers also a machine for automatically cutting perfect-bound products. The device is of special interest for customers who occasionally manufacture perfect-bound products and wish to manually cut them to the required format on the cutting machine. With BC 330 one operator can do the binding and cutting in parallel, without blocking the cutting machine.

The following highlights will be presented at the POLAR PACE Days 2014:

- CuttingSystem 200 with EasyLoad 7S, the recently developed loading assistance
- CuttingSystem PACE (200-137)
- BC 330 Three-side trimmer
