Karl Mohr is posthumously honored with his own street

Karl Mohr

On the occasion of his 100th birthday on November 24, Karl Mohr was posthumously honored for his works with his own street name by the city of Hofheim, which will now have its own Karl Mohr Street.

Apart from his work as co-owner and commercial director of Adolf Mohr Maschinenfabrik, Karl Mohr was very socially committed. He supported various emergency services, organizations, associations and clubs both financially and non-financially. The welfare of his home town and its citizens was something particularly dear to his heart.

Karl Mohr was born on November 24, 1915 in Hofheim. After his business training he joined the family business founded by his father at the beginning of the thirties. In 1942 he took on management of the Adolf Mohr Maschinenfabrik as a personally liable shareholder together with his brother Rudolf.

The two brothers led the modest engineering company to the top position on the world market for cutting machines. Technically they were always a step ahead of the competition. Today the company is the global market leader in its field and supplies its equipment to more than 160 countries.

Karl Mohr died on 11 August 1988 at the age of 72. In addition to his entrepreneurial successes, he was honored in his lifetime for his charitable works. In 1981 he was also awarded the St. Florian's Medal and in 1984 received Golden Ring of Honor of the city of Hofheim. In 1985 Karl Mohr was awarded the Federal Cross of Merit of the Federal Republic of Germany. He was particularly proud of the German Lifesaving Medal, as it was given to him as an individual for rescuing three people from drowning.

Information on POLAR

An independent family business, POLAR develops efficient solutions in the post-press branch and positions itself as a global, trend-setting technology company. The range of products includes components and systems for networking and automating various processes from loading, via jogging, cutting and die-cutting right through to unloading and banding. We have been producing cutting machines that are perfect for Print-on-Demand markets working with formats up to 46 x 64 cm under the MOHR brand since 2012. Another member of the POLAR Mohr group is Dienst Verpackungstechnik GmbH, a business producing components and systems for the automatic packaging of goods, primarily in the food industry.
